Last Friday evening, the Women's Society of the Heights Baptist Church held a costume party in the church vestry at eight o'clock. Three prizes were awarded for the best and most original costumes, the three being: Mr. Josiah W. Hovey, dressed as a woman of twenty-five years ago, and Mrs. Mildred Palmer and Mr. Chester Gott in depression costumes.

Two ladies dressed as bride and groom carrying a suitcase inscribed "Just Married" were given honorable mention, but because of their excellent disguises, their identity was not discovered. After the costume contest, a number of games were played, and refreshments were served under the direction of Mrs. Paul Chatman.

DISRAELI PROCEEDS WILL BE USED FOR HEIGHTS LIBRARY

"Disraeli", which the Park Players are presenting next month under the sponsorship of the Arlington Heights Study Club, is the great historical drama which carried George Arliss to the peak of his success. It is by far the most ambitious effort of the Players, offering numerous difficulties, which, however, are being dispelled one by one under the direction of Mr. William O. Partridge.

Mr. Partridge, one of the most prominent directors hereabout, has spent his life in the theatre. He has been highly popular as a dramatic coach in Arlington for many years. Disraeli climaxes the five years he has been working with the Park Players, offering fine entertainment to the people of Arlington.

Due to dramatist Louis N. Parker's remarkable clever treatment of the subject matter, (with a little juggling of historical facts) plus the brilliant direction of Mr. Partridge and the playing of a fine cast, the final performance should be highly dramatic, entertainingly amusing, and pictorially beautiful.

The performance is to be held on Friday, February 15, in the Robbins Memorial Town Hall, and the entire proceeds will go to the Vittoria C. Dallin Heights Branch Library Fund. Tickets may be obtained from any member of the Park Players or the Heights Study Club, or by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope and check to A. Francis Knight, 11 Tanager street, Arlington Heights.

TOWN EMPLOYEE IS INJURED IN COLLISION

Patrick J. Cassidy, 43, of 58 Rover street, an employee in Arlington's department of streets, was hurt last Sunday afternoon when he was hit by an automobile, operated by Muriel Fitzgibbon, Seaciff, Long Island, which had first collided with a town truck operated by George H. Reynolds of 34 Franklin street. The injured man, who was standing near the truck when it was hit, was taken to his home by Superintendent Bill Toomey. Both the truck and the automobile were considerably damaged.

Arlington Veteran Lands Somerville Post Office Post

He has been performing substitute duty for nearly eight years and the last year was employed at Arlington Post Office as carrier on a route in the Heights, where he is well known.

HENRY KIDDER RESIGNS FROM CHURCH OFFICES

The annual meeting of the Orthodox Congregational Church was held last Friday evening. It was preceded by a parish supper served by the Bradshaw-Friendly Union. The meeting was presided over by Deacon Henry A. Kidder, moderator of the church.

The reports were of a very encouraging nature. Albert Wunderlich, clerk, reported thirty-six members received during the year and thirteen losses by removal or death making the net gain twenty-three, and the present membership 641.

The treasurer, Mr. Everett G. Cobb reported total disbursements of a little more than ten thousand dollars. Pledges for the 1935 budget show a considerable increase over those for the past year.

Since the incorporation of the church and society as one organization in 1921, Mr. Henry A. Kidder has been the moderator and has performed his duties with unusual ability and fairness. He has also been deacon of the church for the past 14 years. It was therefore with the very deepest regret that the church accepted his resignation from these offices due to reasons of poor health. The meeting elected him honorary moderator for life. It will take action concerning his retirement from the office of deacon, at a meeting to be held in the near future.

Reports from about fifteen officers and committees showed real progress in spite of the depression period through which we have been passing, and a note of optimism pervaded the meeting.

Officers for the ensuing year are as follows: Moderator, Earle S. Lewis; Honorary Moderator, Henry A. Kidder; Deacon (4 years) Henry C. Guernsey; Deaconesses (2 years) Mrs. Harold C. Mann, Mrs. Warren A. Seavey; Clerk (1 year) Albert W. Wunderlich; Treasurer (1 year) Everett G. Cobb; Asst. Treasurer (1 year) Mrs. Frank W. Wunderlich; Collector (1 year) Mrs. Frank W. Wunderlich; Auditor (1 year) Eben F. Dewing; Historian (1 year) Mrs. Geo. B. C. Rugg; Supt. Church School, Miss Thelma Le Master; Church Committee (3 years) Howard E. Cousins; Prudential Committee (3 years) Earle S. Lewis; Music Committee, Mrs. Frank E. Carlson, Mr. Wm. E. Bunton, Miss Gratia Eagle; Missionary Committee: Mrs. Stanley E. Cook, Mrs. Henry C. Guernsey, Mrs. Laurence L. Barber; Religious Education Committee, Miss Thelma Le Master, Miss Dorothea Johnson, Chas. M. MacMillin, Mrs. Harold Mann, Mrs. Frank B. Savage, Bernard G. Teel, Mrs. Alvin Woodward, Clarence R. Day, Miss Edith M. Fox, Mrs. Edward A. Lincoln; Hospitality Committee: Ralph B. Lancaster, Rowland T. Beers, Julian D. Anthony, Clifford Birch, John S. Ingebreest, Howard R. Ensor, Peter Gray, Milton C. Paige, F. Clifford Cox, Leonard S. Graff.

Announcement was made that Miss Thelma Le Master of Newton had accepted the position of Religious Education Director for the ensuing year. Miss Le Master succeeds Miss Helen Cunningham recently married. She is a native of Colorado, graduate of Andover-Newton Seminary and for the past two and one half years has been in charge of Young People's work at the Congregational Church in Wellesley Hills. She will begin her work in Arlington February 1st.

The Walter Robinsons Celebrate Their 52nd

The Boston Transcript of last Saturday carried this:

"Mr. and Mrs. Walter F. Robinson of 15 Cliff street, Arlington, will mark their fifty-second wedding anniversary tomorrow in the home of their daughter, Mrs. Arthur W. Sampson of 21 Cliff street. Both are in the best of health."

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson were married in Portland, Me., in 1883, and moved to Arlington twenty-eight years ago. Mr. Robinson has long been active in town affairs and until two years ago was chairman of the board of public works. He has also served on the town finance committee and as a town meeting member.

"Mr. Robinson at one time was attached to the U. S. Signal Corps, and was a telegrapher with General Nelson A. Miles in his operations against Geronimo."

Hon. Leonard Collins,
Chairman, Board of Selectmen,

My Dear Hon. Sir:—Greetings—from the Municipal Federation, to the Sister Community, Arlington. It is heartening to note the "Civic Revival", now taking place in Arlington. Too long have we been thinking in terms of China, Hoboken and New Jersey—overlooking the fact that our own community needs a little attention. Congratulations to Mr. Collins and the citizens of a community marked with historical lore and civic idealism—the ground work on which this nation was founded.

Faithfully Yours,
WILLIAM A. RYAN,
For the World Federation of Municipalities.

Boy Scout Notes

Highlights at Troop Seven
The Troop Visitor called around at Troop Seven this week and found Scoutmaster George Wright at the Old Town Hall conducting the meeting with all his usual interest. For ten years he has been serving scouting, and many boys have been with him in Troop Seven.

Assistant Scoutmaster Leo Murphy, as well as Senior Patrol Leader Joseph Ahern, were carrying out their various duties in leading the games and inspection. Patrol Leaders Angelo Dimodica, Bernard Murphy and Francis Paton were busy holding their patrol meetings, and furthering advancement in the instruction period.

The first part of the program consisted of a patrol contest in games; then came the opening exercises, followed by a drill game called Streets and Alleys. Instruction in tracking and scout pace tests was then given, after the boys broke up into patrol meetings for instruction and tests for the individual patrols. After this, another game drill was held, and the meeting closed with appropriate exercises at 8:57.

Altogether sixteen boys outside of the Scoutmasters were present, ten of whom were in uniform. The interest was high, and the co-operation with their leaders was commendable. This troop has always been a live one in the council, and much may be expected from it.

He man who wrote these words is regarded as one of the greatest poets who ever lived—Homer, the blind bard of ancient Greece. History does not tell how Homer lost his sight, but we do know how another great poet—Milton—lost his eyesight . . . Constant reading in poor light helped to make Milton blind.

Keith Memorial

Starting February 1st, the Keith Memorial Theatre, Boston, will celebrate the fifty-second jubilee celebration of B. F. Keith, for one whole month, as a tribute to the real founder of American vaudeville. The theatre announces that no expense will be spared in presenting four weeks of stage stars that are without entertainment comparison in honor of the memory of Mr. Keith.

Fifty-two years ago and less than a stone's throw from the present Keith Memorial Theatre, Benjamin Franklin Keith opened the doors of his unpretentious first vaudeville theatre; but this initial smallness and crudity of housing sheltered an idea and purpose which were to revolutionize the theatre and fundamentally lift it to hitherto unapproached levels of clean and inspiring entertainment. In short, B. F. Keith took the discredited and equivocal variety performance of a half century ago and transmitted it from a base metal into a noble and enduring one. Like all pioneers he had, in his beginning, those trials and handicaps which mark the birth-throes of any basic innovation; and, as becomes the true pioneer, he overmounted every obstacle and blazed first a path and then a great thoroughfare that the whole dramatic world now travels.

Mr. Keith was essentially a New England tradition; he stood for all that was honest, clean, upright and noble. That his name will be perpetuated and revived now and then is a worthy and deserved enterprise. That in memory of his ideals the Keith Memorial Theatre will present a month of unprecedented stage shows is worthy of editorial comment and support of every New England theatre-goer.

The first program will feature Joe Penner, the Boswell Sisters, the famous dance group, "The Twelve Ristrators", and the celebrated Stan Kavanagh, Phil Baker, Mitzie Mayfair, Jack Whiting, the Diamond Boys and other stars are booked for the second week, while the complete Casino de Paree show will be presented the third week. The fourth program is not set as yet but unquestionably will embrace performers of nation-wide repute. The finest in moving picture entertainment will be presented in addition to the vaudeville show.

To this "Mother" Phinney most graciously responded, bringing her greetings and reminiscences of the instituting of Tent 76 when our new president was then a school girl.

Mrs. May G. Blanchard, department president brought her greetings and gave a very pleasing address. Mrs. Blanchard was presented with a large bouquet of flowers to which she responded with her usual charm of manner.

Mrs. Helen Savery expressed her deep appreciation for the dainty gifts presented to her and her staff and gave a friendly informal little address which every one enjoyed.

GIRL SCOUTS

The January Leaders Meeting was held at the home of Capt. Frances Donahue, Monday evening. Following supper, Rev. Clifford Simpson of the Park Avenue Congregational church, gave a very interesting and instructive talk on "Movies and our Children". Mrs. Kidder spoke about finances, and told of the drive to be made for needed funds. Mrs. Poole outlined an interesting program for the remainder of the scout year.

The 17th of February, Sunday at 3 p. m., there will be a "Scouts' Own" at the Town Hall, to which the public is cordially invited.

In March the Mother and Daughter banquet will be held. In April, a play given by the Friends of the Drama will be given for the benefit of the Scouts. In May will recur the annual White Elephant sale, and the public rally, which closes the Scout season.

February is International Month. Each troop is to be assigned a nation, in which Girl Scouting exists. The habits, customs, uniforms, of that country, will be studied. A doll will then be dressed in the uniform of the nation assigned. These dolls may be kept as a permanent international exhibit.

A general course in scout leadership is to be given soon. Names of those who are interested to know more about girl scouting, should be sent to Headquarters at Old Town Hall. A first aid course for adults is to be given Tuesday mornings, starting in February by Mr. Johnson of the American Red Cross.

Winter day camping will be held Saturday, January 26 at Cedar Hill, with Capt. Rogers of Troop 9 in charge. The Newton Girl Scouts are to be hostesses. They are planning stunts and races on the ice. Bring skates, ready for the fun.

Anyone attending the Mansion House at Cedar Hill for luncheon, tea, or dinner, will be given a ticket of admission to any of the sports at Cedar Hill for the day. Special arrangements may be made for group cafeteria fish chowder suppers on Friday nights, and bean suppers Saturday nights in the Rookery. Why go to New Hampshire for winter sports?

At the Drum & Bugle Corps meeting next Thursday, attendance stars for last year will be awarded. At the Metropolitan Division Meeting Monday, Mrs. Poole, Mrs. Kidder, Miss Unsworth, Mrs. Dallin, Misses Hayes and Leveroni were present. Mrs. Harold Leveson presided as Metropolitan Division commissioner, which position she is holding for the third term.

Then we recited the Scout promise and laws. Two girls, Marjorie Ladd, and Katharine Hauser, were invested. Then we practised songs for "Scouts' Own".

—Helen Richardson.

A. H. S. QUINTET LOSES TARTAR THEN WINS FROM A SOFTIE

Arlington Starts Fast, but Fitchburg Runs Amok. Locals Later Lace Befuddled Brookline.

The Arlington High School basketball team suffered its fourth defeat of the season at the hands of a powerful Fitchburg High quintet, 38-28, at the High School auditorium last Friday.

At the opening of the first period, it appeared as though the game would be a pushover for the local team. Captain Lowder sunk a basket a minute and a half after the game started. Bart Madden immediately followed with a push shot. Lowder then sunk another basket. With the score 6-0 in Arlington's favor, Fitchburg decided to take time out to collect their scattered wits. At the expiration of the time out, Fitchburg went to work. After Lowder had sunk a foul shot, Captain Leo flipped the ball into the net to put the Red Devils in the scoring column. "Red" Brodeur followed with two points, and as the period closed, Flynn sunk a foul shot, the score at the end of the first period stood 7-5 in Arlington's favor.

Fitchburg continued its scoring spree in the second quarter. Flynn sunk a foul shot. Curly Shields sunk a foul shot for Arlington. Madden then sent a long shot from mid-court to score two points. Leo placed Fitchburg closer by netting two points. Brodeur then tied the score with a one-handed shot. Arlington took time out. Earl Jones sunk a foul shot to put Arlington in the lead. Fitchburg took the lead when Schragle scored two points. Flynn netted four points by two baskets. Charlie Lowder sunk a foul shot. The half ended with Fitchburg leading, 16-12.

The Red Devils ran amok at the opening of the second half. Schragle scored two points, Leo four points, Flynn two points. Arlington called time out. Shields scored two points, Flynn retaliated with two, and Charlie Lowder came back with two more. Brodeur annexed two points and Kangas one. Shields sunk two foul shots. Lowder let fly a long shot which swished into the strings. Pat O'Brien scored two points as the period ended. The score now stood 29-22 for Fitchburg.

During the final quarter, four players were evicted from the game because of four fouls. Brodeur and Kangas were the unfortunate ones from Fitchburg, and Siders and Shields from Arlington. Fitchburg totalled nine points in this period. Schragle, Flynn and Leo doing the scoring, while Arlington netted six points with "Bibber" Holway and Don De Feo doing the scoring.

In the preliminary game, the Fitchburg Seconds defeated the Arlington Seconds, 29-18.

Brookline Bad
The Arlington High Basketball team easily subdued a vastly inferior Brookline High quintet, 23-6, at the Brookline High gym last Monday. The game was a drab affair, the Arlington team never being pushed, and consequently the players did not exert themselves to any great extent.

Charlie Lowder opened hostilities by sinking a foul shot 30 seconds after the game started. After a few minutes of scrimmage, "Curly" Shields looped an overhead shot into the basket. "Bibber" Holway scored another basket before the period closed. The score at the end of the first quarter was 5-0 with Arlington in the lead.

Lowder again started things by sinking a foul shot, followed by Holway with another. Quinn put Brookline in the running by scoring two points. Jones netted two points, and Holway four, as the period ended. The score stood 13-2, in favor of Arlington.

In the third period, Arlington got 2 points, a basket by Lowder. Brookline succeeded in getting four baskets by Quinn and Brown.

The final canto was all Arlington, with Brookline unable to score. In this period, Billy Shields was ousted from the game because of four fouls. Jones dribbled down the floor and sunk a beautiful shot. Shields followed, and Jones repeated his performance. Charlie Lowder sunk his third foul shot of the game, and Don De Feo closed the game with a one-handed push shot.

In the preliminary game, the Arlington Seconds defeated the Brookline Seconds, 20-13. This game was a little more evenly matched, the outcome not being decided until the final period. The scene at the half was tied at six all. The high scorer was Captain Ed McEwen with eight points to his credit.

HIGH SCHOOL MAKES PUBLIC AWARDS FOR FALL SPORTS

Report Shows That Football Is the Only Money-Making Sport. Letters Given for Football, Field Hockey and Cross Country.

An assembly for the seniors and juniors was held in the old assembly hall last Friday morning. Mr. Morrill, our assistant-principal, who is the financial manager of the athletic teams, gave an interesting report on the condition of the teams as regards finances. It was found that football is the only sport that brings in any profits worth mentioning, and that all the other sports, but one, do not even pay their own debts. The large debt incurred in Warren Peirce Field, of which the bleachers were the most expensive item, is slowly being paid off by the money made from the football games.

After Mr. Morrill's report, Mr. Gammons took over the meeting, which was for the primal purpose of awarding letters to participants in the fall sports. The receivers of these were:—Football: Co-Captains William Collins and Peter Manoli; Co-Captains-elect Paul Dorrington and Francis Madden, Clarence Genge, Ernest Moeglin, Daniel McFadden, George Bourget, Milton Matthews, John Buckley, William Shields, Mitchell Guzelian, John Lyons, Thomas Johnson, Veto Nevickas, William Oliverio, Albert Lennan, and Manager John Casey.

Field Hockey: Captain Olive Jackson, Castine Swanson, Virginia Richmond, Dorothy Robbins, Barbara Rimbach, Anna Siker, Eleanor Gorell, Edith Pillsbury, Catherine Hart, Harriet Bevins, Winifred Marvin, Sonya Fellman, and Manager Alma Mitchell.

Field Hockey: (Second Team) Gertrude Magee, Ethel Hall, Elsie Jackson, Frances Howley, Virginia Hoffman, Margaret A. Powers, Nona Peterson, Margaret Dempsey, Charlotte O'Neill, Louise Dailey, Louise Lane, Phyllis Sullivan, Linnea Fellman, Edith Doherty, Emma Parsons and Ruth Thomson.

Cross Country: Captain Lester Gott, Captain-elect Paul Cronin, George Burns, Herbert Cook, John Fredriksen, and Arthur Knapp.

Lowder Has Caged Fifty-One Points

So far this season, the basketball team has annexed 170 points as against 156 for the opponents. This does not include the Alumni game. Captain Charles Lowder is the leading scorer having amassed a grand total of 51 points. Earl Jones and Billy Shields are tied for second place with 26 points apiece. The summary:

ARLINGTON SHOULD BEAT NEWTON WEBB PREDICTS

Arlington High School hockey team plays Newton tonight at the Boston Arena. And Robert Webb, formerly of Arlington, now sports writer on the Transcript, had the following to say concerning the game:

"Arlington is the present leader in the Greater Boston League but is closely pursued by Newton and Melrose, each a game behind. A win over Newton will put Newton temporarily at least, out of the picture. 'Earlier in the week it looked as if Arlington would be weakened for the important Newton game, but Bill Collins has recovered from his groin injury and played against Exeter at Exeter Wednesday. Collins will start at defense against Newton along with Fred Byrne, who scored Arlington's only goal against Exeter. 'Newton is the only high school which has beaten Arlington this year, although Arlington and Melrose played a scoreless tie. Melrose gave Newton a 6-2 trouncing earlier in the season, but Arlington found the fast skating Newton a hard nut to crack. Arlington is a much improved team over the one which lost to Newton before, however, and ought to win the game.

"The two teams have a good deal in common. Unlike Melrose and Cambridge Latin, which depend on a few stars to do all the scoring, Arlington and Newton have ten or a dozen good hockey players who combine to make a good team. Both Saks Sakolan and Bert Woodward, the opposing goalies, rank high up in the League. Bill Collins of Arlington and Gus Castoldi are two of the finest defense players in the League. Both teams have two good forward lines which rank equally strong. The game shapes up as one of the best of the season.

HOOP GIRLS LOSE TO ARLINGTON

Arlington had the upper hand once again over Belmont, this time in the basketball game between the High School girls at the local gym last Friday afternoon, when they triumphed over the Orchard Street Maidens 17-11. Belmont fought hard, but the Spy Ponders were taller and bigger, and this advantage played a strong part in the final score. Again Ruth Manness and Dot Marsh did the scoring for the Hotterites while both Norma Woolfrey and Dot Andrews played well on the defense.

In the second team battle Arlington was also on the top.

The line up:

BELMONT HOOPMEN HAVE GOOD CHANCE FOR TITLE HONORS

This may be a little early to be hanging title honors on any team, but as the Belmont High basketball outfit has already completed its first half of the schedule without being on the short end of a battle, it begins to loom more and more that not only has Coach Wenner's five a chance to take the league hunting but to come through the entire array of 15 games without a loss. This seems like putting the boys on the spot and makes a mighty tough assignment to handle in slugging through a season's schedule undefeated, but carefully looking over the teams in the second half there lies a belief that the quintet can and may do, just that.

During the first half all league opponents took it on the chin from Dave Donnelly and his mates. The games, at least most of them, were not even close, the red-and-blue winning by 10 to 15 points. In the two outside contests, that is outside of the league, the boys walked away with Melrose, but had a battle with Arlington. That battle with the Spy Ponders was, and looked to be the toughest in the entire schedule, and some consolation is found in that instead of another game with Arlington in the second half the Wennermen play Milton high instead.

Lexington, with a veteran outfit, may prove a surprise tomorrow, but against the other league opponents Belmont shouldn't have any more trouble than it did in the first half. The two new teams, new as far as that they were not played before this year, are Milton High and our old rival Watertown. Both these outfits are having a terrible season. Milton only winning one game, and that against a church outfit, and Bernie White's clan living up to the reputation of the football men by not winning a contest to date. Against these Belmont should not have the slightest trouble, but you know when Watertown plays Belmont.

Although opponents don't seem to be able to stop the Belmont boys, there is an opponent that ticks a lot, and this may be the one that will stop the Wennerman—ya they call it over-confidence.

THE SNAPSHOT GUILD SNAPSHOTS AT NIGHT

UNTIL recently, the idea of making snapshots at night ranked alongside that other classic picture-taking impossibility—a snapshot of a black cat in a coal pile at midnight. But now, with the new extremely sensitive films and brilliant, inexpensive lights, snapshots indoors at night are as easy as any others.

Let's say you want to snap Sue at the piano—assuming that Sue looks and feels natural there—taking your stand, with camera, off to the side of the piano. There's an ordinary floor lamp—one of those three-light affairs—just beyond the piano and another on your side. Both lamps are just beyond the field of your camera finder. Tilt the shades so that the light reaching your subject is unshaded. Put two or three photoflood-type lights in the lamp that's beyond your subject, one in the nearer lamp, turn 'em on—and blaze away.

If you're in a box camera, better use a photo-flash bulb. (The method is described a few paragraphs ahead.) On the other hand, if you use a more advanced camera with a lens that's "faster" than f.8, you won't need the photofloods quite so close to the subject.

The regular snapshot exposure—1/25th of a second—will do the trick nicely, assuming your lens has an opening of f.8 or greater.

The diagram above indicates the relative placing of subject, lights and camera for the picture of Sue at the piano. Naturally, you will arrange the lights as you see fit, but keep in mind these simple rules:

First, light intensity decreases rapidly as the lamp is pulled back from the subject. Six feet away, a lamp's picture making brilliance is only a quarter what it is at three feet.

Second, shield your camera lens from the direct rays of light.

Third, while you can use photofloods (they cost a quarter and are good for at least two hours of picture making) in ordinary fixtures, they are more efficient in reflectors—either home-made or inexpensively purchased.

Fourth, don't try to light up everything in a picture. Shade is just as important as the highlights.

Fifth, avoid lighting that illuminates both sides of a subject's face equally. The result will be flat and unnatural.

Sixth, always use modern, super-sensitive film. It's available in the standard makes, at very slight extra cost.

Indoor snapshots may also be made with photoflash bulbs. If you want to stop ping-pong players in action, for example, these handy, safe, inexpensive flash bulbs are just the thing. One of the medium-size bulbs will do very well in an average room. If you haven't a battery-operated holder for flash bulbs, you can screw the bulb into any standard electric light socket and, when all's set, turn on the current.

The possibilities for indoor snaps are endless. If you haven't tried your hand at this kind of snapshotting, you're missing a lot. And that's too bad.

JOHN VAN GUILDER.

"EVELYN PRENTICE" AT THE UNIVERSITY

"Evelyn Prentice" co-starring William Powell and Myrna Loy, which starts Sunday for four days at the University, brings this popular team back to the screen for the third time as husband and wife. The story was put into production upon the universal demand of the motion picture public who besieged the studios with requests that they be cast together in another picture. The decision finally fell upon the sensational courtroom novel from the pen of W. E. Woodward, who previously had written several exceptionally fine books that promise to live for many years to come. The story deals with the domestic life of a brilliant criminal lawyer.

Romance, humor and charm are said to be combined in "Anne of Green Gables", the companion picture, adapted from L. M. Montgomery's famous novel. The picture, featuring the sixteen-year-old Anne Shirley, concerns a red haired orphan heroine who is as dynamic and amusing as she is wistful and appealing.

"The Private Life of Don Juan" Douglas Fairbanks' first film in two years, starts Thursday. Produced by Alexander Korda for London Films, the combination which gave us "The Private Life of Henry VIII", "The Private Life of Don Juan", tells in vivid and amusing fashion the story of how the incurable romanticist, deprived by a trick of fate of his name and reputation, wanders from one lovely creature to another, determined to prove to himself and the world that he's still the world's greatest lover. The film offers Doug one of his typical swashbuckling, daredevil roles and is replete with vigorous swordplay and breathtaking stunts.

"Behold My Wife", the companion picture adapted from "The Translation of a Savage" by Sir Gilbert Parker, co-stars Sylvia Sidney and Gene Raymond. It is the story of a white man who married an Indian girl to disgrace his family, but learned, to love her when time and events had proved her true value.

PULITZER PRIZE WINNER TELLS WHAT ENGLAND WANTS AT FOREIGN AFFAIRS SCHOOL

Says English Speed Maniacs; Don't Want to be Disabused of Comic Strip Ideas About Us; Advises Cynical Cancellation of War Debts which Will Never Be Paid; Claims England Might Make Faces with Us at Japan, but Would Not Back Us Up in Showdown.

Herbert Agar, honorary attaché to the American Embassy in London, addressed a distinguished gathering at Agassiz House, Radcliffe, Tuesday evening, the first evening session of the three-day "School of Politics" conducted by the Massachusetts League of Women Voters. He advised a cynical cancellation of war debts which will never be paid; no making of faces at the Japanese unless we intend to go to war about the Far East, calling that policy "a paradox of pacifism"; declared that although England might join in making faces, she would never back us up; and admitted the possibility of England's going Fascist in event of internal affairs becoming worse.

Mr. Agar also discussed the "comic section" ideas of the English about us, especially about the "weird middle west", which they blame for everything they don't like. He also accused the English of being the speed maniacs which they think we are, and says they derive the delight from our supposedly bizarre actions that a fond parent does from watching his children's antics.

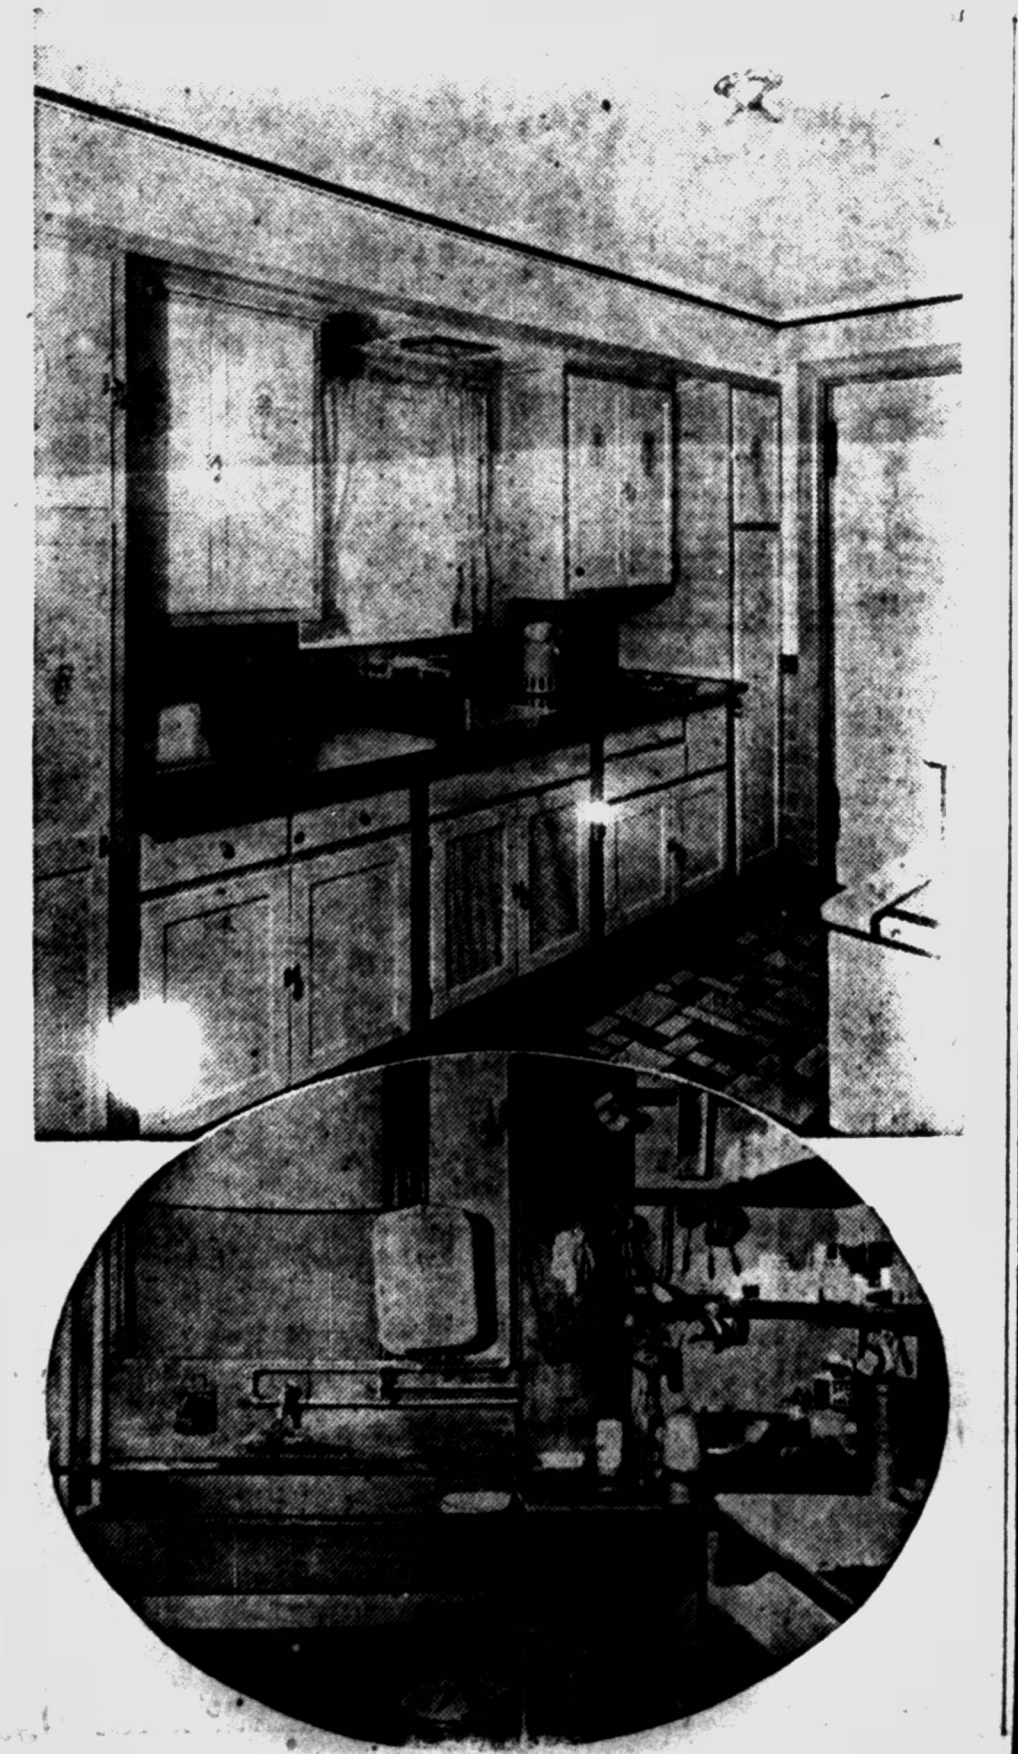

Mrs. Henry Randolph Brigham, president of the Massachusetts League of Women Voters introduced Herbert Agar, journalist, historian and social economist, who two years ago won the Pulitzer Prize for his book, "The People's Choice". Mr. Agar, who spent six years in London, has just recently returned, and was able to speak authoritatively on the subject "What Does England Want of America", at the 14th annual session of the School of Politics.

Mr. Agar, whose accent was not standardized Oxonian, said in part: "The longer I stayed in England, the more clearly I realized that I was away from home. I found that there was something wrong with the theory that all people are alike under their skins. They are surprisingly alike on the surface, but I believe that there are genuine national differences. I do not mean hostility, and I do not mean artificial differences, but real ones.

"The fundamental problem in our relations with England is that the English still consistently think of us as colonial people, still feel that we are good or bad copies of a parent race. The English attitude toward our language is an example of this. They cannot think of American as a real language, but merely as an unsuccessful attempt to talk like a man from Oxford. This colors our relations with them, although it is as philologically absurd to think of English as right and American wrong, as it is to think of French as right, and Italian wrong.

English want from us is cancellation. What is remarkable is the way in which they have worked up feeling against the payment of those debts. Neither England nor France have any intention of paying, but the French are hard-headed and realistic about it. They merely say the debts are inconvenient and they won't pay.

"England has worked it around until she has a strong moral reason against paying, and the average reader of English newspapers thinks that England is doing us a service by not paying.

"I am a cancellationist myself, and I believe that we should take the cynical point of view, and get rid of them before they do any more damage. I would be sorry to see it done on moral grounds. It is certain that if debts are too large to be convenient they will not be paid. If we do not cancel them on moral grounds, or the grounds of friendliness, we are not so likely to do the same thing over again.

"No British government could stay in office six months if it undertook to pay those debts, or to convince the British public that they should be paid. "In regard to what England wants in international trade. There are two kinds of international trade. The first is like that practised by England in the 19th century, advance of great credit to people of other nations, under which you must have some way of insuring that you get paid. Second is the exchange of goods against goods, with no credit.

"The United States is wavering between the two. England wants their 19th century kind, but they don't want us to have the same prestige. However, they are certain that we'll make a hash of it, as we did in the 1920's, when we made huge loans and provided no method of payment.

Questions were asked after the lecture, during which period Mr. Agar divulged that he does not think Americans are standardized. Asked about Oswald Moseley, he said that the Fascist group with which he was allied might grow powerful if things go badly, although Moseley himself might not be the leader of the movement.

JUNIOR HIGH WEST NOTES

At the West vs. Malden Beebe Junior High basketball game last Friday, the Beebe was the winner with a score of 18-15. The second team game resulted in a score of 13-2 again in favor of the Malden school. Although the floor was rather long and playing conditions were not particularly good, the game was a very interesting and exciting one.

A CONSERVATIVE SUM

This coming week the Arlington Girl Scout Council is making its annual appeal for funds. Their budget is $1,500; a most conservative sum when one considers that this amount serves more than 450 active Scouts in this town. It is possible to operate within this amount, only through the most rigid economy, and because the voluntary service of interested women, necessitates only one salaried worker, the local director. Even the drum and bugle corps, always so enthusiastically received here, has become practically self-supporting.

During the fifteen years since its organization in Arlington, scouting has gone steadily forward until this year our local Council was awarded first place in the state, on their achievement record. Many girls have been trained in the wise and profitable use of their leisure time, to the enrichment of their own life and that of the community in general. As a character building organization of proven worth, the Girl Scouts of Arlington merit your generous support.

THE NEW MOVING PICTURES

To those people who have said they would go to the movies regularly if the producers made pictures worth seeing we ask, what have you done about it?

You were right when you said that the movies needed to be cleaned. They have been cleaned. May we call to your attention only a few of the great numbers of pictures that have been approved for family Junior matinee and adult entertainment: "Ann of Green Gables", "Band Plays On", "Bright Eyes", "Flirtation Walk", "David Copperfield", "Here Is My Heart", "The Little Minister", "Broadway Bill", "Babes in Toyland", "Imitation of Life".

Have you gone to see this new movie? to witness the artistry, the high type of drama, the beauty and the thrilling action. Some of these pictures cost thousands of dollars to make, some of them have been complete financial failures.

Motion picture production administrator Joseph J. Breen has said: "If this condition is not remedied, either one of the two things is bound to happen. Either the producing companies will go into bankruptcy; or we shall have enormous difficulty in maintaining our present high standard of film fare."

The new pictures are brilliant, they have plenty of action, they have sex that is exquisitely feminine, they are pictures that satisfy your desire for better motion picture entertainment.

Town Topics

—Mr. and Mrs. Earl B. Patriquin of 72 Crescent Hill Avenue entertained the "Jolly Dose" Club at supper at their home, last Friday evening. After the delicious meal, bridge was enjoyed during the evening hours.

—While her brothers, John and George Minot, have been ill with the whooping cough for the past week, Miss Olive Minot of 31 Benjamin Road has been staying with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Woodend of 137 Westminster Avenue.

—The Heights Baptist Church was honored to have its pulpit filled last Sunday morning, by Rev. Laurence L. Barber of the Orthodox Congregational Church.

—Miss Virginia Wellington of Pleasant street is one of those on a special committee which has arranged for a series of evening lectures, sponsored by the Boston College Wellesley College Club.

—At 9.15 this morning, 33 pupils who had brought their dental cards showing their teeth to have been checked up by the dentist, were allowed to go to the Hood Milk Company's plant in Charlestown to observe the milk purifying processes there. Another trip may be made later by another group.

—Mrs. Louisa S. Russell of 26 Higgins street celebrated her eighty-ninth birthday on January 13th. Mrs. Russell attended the service at the First Baptist Church of which she has been a member for many years. Birthday greetings from relatives and friends made the day a very happy one.

—The annual meeting of the Winchester Country Club will be held at the clubhouse next Tuesday evening at eight o'clock to elect officers for the ensuing year and to transact other business. The nominating committee has posted the following names: Erastus B. Badger, president; Philip A. Hendrick, vice-president; John P. Carr, treasurer; Maurice F. Brown, secretary; John M. Tobin and Lawrence S. Martin, directors.

—This afternoon at 2.30, 18 students, Miss Mary F. Forrest and Dr. Hawkes, representing the "Mentorship Beacon", attended a meeting of the League of Junior High School Publications of Eastern Massachusetts held at Wellesley College. This is the first meeting to be held at the college, and much interest in it has been shown by the members of the college faculty and student body. A small sum had been appropriated for the affair, and student guides were furnished to show the visitors about the buildings. The Arlington group went in a bus, and picked up twenty more from Belmont en route.

Town Meeting Tercentenary

While Connecticut towns contend for the honor of being designated as the earliest settled, their forerunners, the towns of Massachusetts, are arguing as to which belongs the distinction of holding the first town meeting. Watertown puts in its claim for its vigorous protests against Gov. Winthrop's heavy hand in local affairs. Boston also insists it had a town meeting in 1634. There seems to be considerable less question that in February, 1635, both Cambridge and Charlestown held such meetings. At all events, the typical form of government of the New England settlements was obviously a spontaneous and common expression of the way the freemen of these communities thought that public business should be carried on. They were independent by disposition, ready to think for themselves on every point, but ready also to put the question to the vote and to abide by the decision of the majority.

The town meeting has been idealized in the course of the last of the three centuries of its development. It is still hailed as "a little republic", the purest and simplest form of democracy, but it has not always been serene. Its most practical virtues have been in the opinion of many its "gumption and common sense". With the increasing size of the town it has tended to lose both its democracy and its common sense. A hundred years ago Boston, with 7,000 voters, gave up the old style of government, but Brookline, just next door, has preserved the tradition undisturbed up to the present, even though its voters number 22,000.

So long has loyalty to the town meeting prevailed that in many places after there were too many voters to permit them all to gather in any available hall, the precincts elected delegates to a general meeting. By such a representative system it was possible to do business with considerable dispatch. In March, 1932, the representatives of the 40,000 people of Arlington, Mass., transacted the year's business in eight minutes, whereas it took Bar Harbor three days to get through its warrant. If the time was devoted to details it is hard to see that much was gained; if to principles, it must have been such an occasion as to call forth new Daniel Websters.

—Chicago Daily Tribune January 19, 1935

[Editor:—The above clipping was sent us by J. Otis MacMillin, formerly of Arlington and now in Chicago. The reference to Arlington in the editorial is entirely erroneous. The meeting mentioned was a special emergency meeting whose warrant contained only two or three articles.]

—Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Emerson and Miss Mary M. Smith of 19 Lombard Road, have arrived for the winter season in Winter Haven, Florida.

Here and There

Roger W. Babson in an article pointing out the fallacies of the Townsend Plan in the Transcript of last Saturday night, said, "It is not an original discovery of Dr. Townsend's that provision for the aged needs attention. Insurance companies have been attempting to make the United States 'old-age-security-conscious' for years."

And strangely enough, we dug this out of the Advocate of twenty-five years ago this week:

"The state-paid old age pension plan has just been condemned in (Massachusetts) Legislative Committee, which suggests that old age security might better be obtained through some form of insurance, and further that the initiative should come from the United States Government."

In a recently published Regent Theatre advertisement, this is what appeared:

"ONE NIGHT OF LOVE"

"SHE WAS A LADY"
Must have been a mistake somewhere.

The dearth of accidents in Arlington during these days of difficult driving conditions is on the face of it very remarkable. But really dangerous conditions are a safeguard because drivers must of necessity exercise real care. Bad accidents occur when the going is good—so good that discretion is tossed to the roadside. It's a little like a poker game. The addict doesn't lose much when the going is tough and his holdings are poor. Catastrophe comes when his hands are good—but not quite good enough.

Friends of the Drama, we salute you. The author picked the worst weather in thirty years for the opening night of his play, "Swift Sword", but in spite of that fact there were nearly a hundred sturdy souls in the audience. FRIENDS, indeed.

We feel that every single one of that audience, especially the several elderly people who braved the gale and the snow, deserve a medal, a gold one at that. And the thirty-three people who took part in the presentation, either behind the footlights or back stage—not one of them was missing. Just before curtain time last report had it that the juvenile was stuck up in Concord, but he was on hand in time to make his entrance.

The remarkable thing to us was the fact that there seemed to be not the slightest thought of postponement. The first tradition of the theatre was uppermost—"The show must go on."

"Swift Sword" will be repeated tonight and tomorrow night under ideal conditions. We say that with perfect confidence, because any conditions after Wednesday night would be considered ideal. But we can not say enough for the fortitude and loyalty of those who came to lend their support the night of the storm.

As was the case everywhere, every automobile had to be shoveled out of the drifts before it could move, and some of them never moved at all. When we passed the clubhouse the next morning we noticed that there were still three, apparently put up for the winter.

One of the first calls the Advocate received yesterday morning was from a lady, who spoke as follows: "I want to put an ad in the paper. Louis is lost." It turned out that Louis was a cat. Poor Louis! A later call, however, dispelled all fears. Louis came home.

Rev. Laurence L. Barber of the Orthodox Congregational Church will give his annual reading of "Snow Bound" Sunday evening.

We have received this week a number of letters endorsing various candidates for public office and take this method of acknowledgement. We would say, however, that if we printed all such letters received, the paper would contain nothing else.

Since we are not in business for the fun of it, and since, believe it or not, setting type costs money, we have a policy of not publishing such advertising missives unless they are supported by display space. So all you literate endorsers, save your effort.

Fifty Years Ago This Week

During this week Chief of Police Mead has been busy gathering a record of births during the past year.

Everybody looks cheerful, in spite of the biting cold, because of the prospect of brisk business on Spy Pond in a few days. The gathering of a good crop of ice adds greatly to the material prosperity of all.

We are glad to learn that some of our young musicians, most of whom are very proficient, propose to organize a local orchestra.

In our Chicago papers we note the fact that Mr. E. Nelson Blake has again been chosen President of the Board of Trade, receiving 904 of 1002. The "bucket shop" combination was unable to bring about his defeat.

Everything indicates that the Republican party has been benefitted by the disaster attending it in the late Presidential contest. It looks as though the party had landed right side up—with its big men at the top—for a change.

The annual party of Cotting High School Alumni Association . . . and the floor manager and aids (Messrs. T. Ralph Parriss, H. B. S. Prescott, J. A. Bailey, Jr., Geo. H. Cutter, Harry Hornblower) were both efficient and attentive. . . . A lovely dress of light lavender cashmere with white lace arranged across the skirt and about the corsage, made in Wautteau style, was highly becoming to its wearer, Miss A. Shattuck; Miss M. Robbins, a stylish toilette of white surah silk and lace with bunch of ostrich tips worn on the corsage, the Misses Bailey, handsome costumes of garnet silk; Miss M. Hill, black satin brocade in garnet. Mrs. Fred Hicks, elegant toilette of pink cashmere trimmed with satin ribbons; Miss L. Proctor, white cashmere and lace; Miss Marion Fessenden in a pink cashmere, with corsage bouquet of red roses. There were many others, but most of them were not worn for the first time and had been described in these columns before.

Twenty-five Years Ago This Week

Those who saw the last High School play, "One of the Eight", will not want to miss the vaudeville to be given next Saturday evening, as William O. Partridge, Jr., has written an original one-act farce based on that play. It is warranted to be very funny.

At the close of the W. C. T. U. Convention recently, Mrs. Henry A. Kider was presented with the special Massachusetts badge worn by the state president, who said, in presenting the same, it was "because all Massachusetts loves you." Mrs. Kider was the founder of the Loyal Legion that has been conducted in Arlington by Rev. James Yeames.

Mr. Hadley of Arlington and Belmont Ice Co., stated on Thursday afternoon that they had filled their ice houses on the borders of Spy Pond. They have stored some twelve thousand tons of ice, averaging twelve inches in thickness and of first class quality.

The annual parish meeting of the First Universalist Society was held on the evening of January 13th. The following officers were elected: President of the board, Frank Bott; Clerk, of the society, Chas. F. Coolidge; Treasurer of the society, John S. Lamson; trustees, William N. Winn, James O. Holt, Fred K. A. Horter, Wendell P. Yerrinton, Henry A. Leeds, Edward W. Goodwin.

Ruth St. Denis, the great dancer, rounded out her Boston engagement at the Hollis Street Theatre this week.

The state-paid old age pension plan has just been condemned in Legislative committee. The committee suggests that old age security might better be obtained through some form of insurance, and further that the initiative should come from the United States Government.

The society event of the season for Heights people was a dance given in Crescent Hall, last Saturday evening. It was under the management of a group of popular young men who made the evening a success in every department. They were Messrs. Wm. E. Bunton, Herbert L. Converse, Clarence G. Parsons and Oscar A. Schnetzer, who acted as ushers as well as floor directors. Some forty couples were present and were marionized by Mrs. I. T. Hunt, Mrs. G. R. Dudley and Mrs. G. C. Tewksbury.

More Committees Formed For Better Housing

The Arlington Better Housing Community campaign reports further progress in the formation of its committees.

Robert Kelly of the Arlington Coal & Lumber Co., chairman of the executive committee, reports the following members of his working committee:

Joseph W. Ahearn, Elmer Anderson, Charles F. Buttol, John D. Byrne, William A. Cann, Arthur Davidson, Alessandro DeSimone, William F. Fitzmaurice, Maurice L. Hatch, Ralph Hoffman, Frank Hughes, Loren W. Marsh, Ray Mauger, Leo Murphy, Thomas J. O'Donnell, Frank P. Randall, Wilfred Rhodes, Thomas H. Twichell, John Freeman, John E. Mitchell.

This committee will have charge of the actual campaign and represents the type of progressive men in the town who can make the campaign a success.

James R. Smith chairman of the Building Industry Committee reports his committee:

Nils G. Anderson, Mervin Brown, James Caccaro, Hiram W. Colton, Fred Douglas, Frederick L. Doyle, Myrl Erickson, Edward McGanty, Harry McLatchy, Raymond H. Pierce, William Pierce, Peter Rossi, Charles L. Stevens, Chester Wana-maker, Arthur Nelson, Martin Billafer, J. V. N. Hatfield, L. J. Cowan, Maurice Sullivan, Otto Rose, Ralph M. Fermoyle, A. H. Munroe, Camille LeBlanc. This committee is to contact all building material and equipment manufacturers and general contractors to enlist and direct their act of support in the campaign.

Both of the committee chairmen inform the general chairman, Henry E. Keenan, that they have not completed their committees and desire to have anyone interested in the campaign to contact them for committee work.

This report practically completes the subcommittees and the program is ready to get under way with the house to house canvass.

Boston, Massachusetts
"Truth" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, January 27.
The Golden Text is: "Teach Me Thy Way, O Lord; I Will Walk in Thy Truth: Unite My Heart to Fear Thy Name" (Psalms 86:11).
Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "No man can serve two masters: for either he will hate the one, and love the other; or else he will hold to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and mammon" (Matthew 6:24).

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook: "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures", by Mary Baker Eddy: "Divine Mind rightly demands man's entire obedience, affection, and strength. No reservation is made for any lesser loyalty. Obedience to truth gives man power and strength. Submission to error superinduces loss of power" (p. 183).

ARLINGTON STAMP CLUB

When it comes to riding a hobby those persons interested in the collection of postage stamps, and who are members of the Arlington Stamp Club, of Arlington, Mass., do not stop for rain, fog, or snow, as was proven by the large number present at their last meeting on Monday evening, January 21.

This club has grown to be the most active and progressive stamp club of suburban Boston, and new members are joining at each meeting, seven being admitted last time.

The club membership is open to persons of 16 years of age or over, and was the first club in the district, with the exception of the Metropolitan Philatelic Society of Boston, to be available for women members.

The stamp bourse and the auction, which are features at each meeting, proved to be a great attraction at this last meeting and a high quality of stamps was to be found in each.

The next meeting of the club, will be held on February 4th at 8 p. m. at the Universalist Parish Hall, (opposite the Town Hall), in Arlington Center.

WORLD'S MOST VALUABLE STAMP

Many persons have asked regarding this stamp, which is the one-cent black on magenta stamp of British Guiana and issued in 1856. Only one copy of this famous stamp has ever been discovered.

Vernon Vaughan, a British Guiana boy, found in looking over some old envelopes, etc., back in 1872, a cover bearing an odd looking stamp, with corners missing, and dirty; however as he did not have it in his collection, he kept it until he grew up, at which time he sold it to a Mr. Neil R. McKinnon for six shillings. Years later Mr. McKinnon sold his collection which contained this stamp, to Mr. Thomas Ridpath of England for $625. Later the stamp was to be found in the collection of Count Ferrary of Paris, who I understand paid the high price of 125 pounds for the copy. After the war, the French Government seized the 52 large albums which comprised the Ferrary collection, and sold them between 1921 and 1925, the proceeds to pass to the allied countries.

NEARLY 100 BRAVE STORM TO WINNERS "SWIFT SWORD"

June, Leonard Wood had a chance to show his exceptional talent on the violin. His part as actor was a discouragingly difficult one, but he deserves much praise for his fine work as a man torn between two fires.

And speaking of deserving praise, endless laud is due Myrdred Foley Trompf for her excellent work in directing the production. It is easy to see that Mrs. Trompf is a professional director, and the Friends have reason to be proud to claim such a member within their ranks.

All the less conspicuous parts—the maids, Hazel Rees and Jennie Carlson; the locker boy, Curtis Pinkham; the detectives, Richard Guinan and Chester Ginder, whose dialogue scene furnished the main source of humor—were really consummate. The house guests were well enacted, and added to the interest of the performance, these parts being taken by Anne Kennedy, Elizabeth Hamlet, Florence Ensor, Mrs. Edward Dearborn, Joseph Lufkin, Bradford Doty, Howard Ensor, Ethel Day, Russell Hamlet, Phyllis Rees and Clarence Day.

The play itself was a very unusual and clever product, from the pen of Parker Wood, a member of the society. A touch of individuality was given by the use of unnatural time sequence; in this way the author kept his audience quite mystified and often "at sea" about the outcome. A murder committed in the first act is the attainment of James Halstead's goal, but the motive for this aim and desire is totally unexplained until the very last speech. The last scene was of great merit, and in almost a miraculous way, it linked the rest of the events of the drama together.

We would say, however, that the play was perhaps just a little too meaty. Almost every line had some vital significance of plot or of character development and necessitated close attention by the audience—not that the latter was not obviously perfectly willing to make the effort.

We suggest that the play might be lightened in spots. Not only was the plot intricate, but each character was also a complicated portrait. In fact, it was suggested to us that "Swift Sword" might be torn into five separate plays, each devoted to the development of each of the five leading characters.

Besides the fine coach, there were, of course, many others who did admirable work to make the production a success. Among these unseen participants were Anne

Kennedy as make-up artist; the prompter, Beatrice Ring, who evidently got not a single chance to exercise her office; Howard Dawes, as stage manager; Homer Davis, Jr., and Herbert Knowlton, who produced excellent, much appreciated electrical effects; Betty Rice, Dorothy Pinkham, and Roberta Bailey, who had charge of the properties and, last but not least, Prescott Baston, who, although taking an important part in the play, yet found time to design the scenery, which was of highest artistic quality. Mr. Baston was assisted by Barbara Sears, Anne Kennedy, Paul White, Walter Hatch, Richard Guinan, King Rugg and James Snow.

"Swift Sword" is surely original, and with the talent displayed in the making of it, it would seem that a coming Phillips Oppenheim would stand in playwright's shoes.

The writer would find one grave fault with the staging of the play. The waits between acts were expected and excusable, but the needless time consumed between scenes very nearly destroyed the continuity of the play. The timing of some of the sound effects was also far from perfect, but we feel certain that these defects will be overcome before the next performance, tonight.

Add Stoneham to Local Radio System

It has been announced that the police department of Stoneham has been added to the Arlington police radio system, which brings the total up to five towns.

Chief Bullock of the Arlington department was one of the original enthusiasts and pioneers in the development of the police radio system with broadcasting facilities to scout cars. Arlington was the first town in this section to install a broadcasting system and receive a license from Washington.

At present the towns of Lexington, Winchester and Woburn are paying an annual fee for the privilege of broadcasts from the Arlington station to their radio cars. Reading and Stoneham are trying the system and will pay the fee if the service is found satisfactory.

Arlington also has a cooperative arrangement with the Somerville department, which has a broadcasting station on the same wave length. Arlington patrol cars receive Somerville broadcasts and vice-versa. Also if trouble occurs with the local station, broadcasts can still be made to Arlington cars through Somerville.

FEW ARE MISSING FROM HIGH DINNER

International Relations department of the club who paid tribute to the Public Library and Mrs. Lucinda Spofford, librarian, who assisted Round Table members in the study of International books.

Mrs. Dempsey introduced Stanley High the speaker of the evening who discussed the undercurrent fear of war in London, Germany, France and Russia. He prophesied the incoming of the Labor Party in England, which would be against war; that if Hitler were not assassinated he would last, because he had bettered conditions in Germany. He drew a word picture of his interview with Mussolini and the war strength of Italy.

His visit to Russia disclosed an effort on the part of the government to cheer the people up. Jazz was everywhere and people were made to listen. "Night clubs and how" were the vogue; that the communistic idea of equality has changed back to class distinctions again. Turning to our own country he, a Republican, spoke of Roosevelt as taking a safe middle course. "You can't laugh Huey Long, Dr. Townsend and other dangerous men off," said High. It means Roosevelt and safety, or the Left represented by Long. The speaker urged our joining the League of Nations.

The forum at the close of the lecture was spirited and climaxed a thrilling presentation of World Affairs.

A watch which was stolen during a break into the C. W. Birch house at 96 Churchhill Avenue on December 13, was recovered Wednesday by the police from a Boston pawn shop.

Calvary Methodists Celebrate Birthday

On Thursday Calvary Methodist Church celebrated its birthday with a banquet in the church. Bishop Charles Wesley Burns and Mrs. Burns, Rev. J. Franklin Knotts and Mrs. Knotts were the guests of honor. The vestry was prettily decorated by the Paquinox Club in green and white with pretty nosegays at each place.

The supper was in charge of Mrs. C. S. Nelson and a committee from the ladies aid-of the church. Dr. Knotts brought the greetings from the Lynn District of which he is superintendent. H. G. Budd, Jr., the pastor, spoke briefly on the progress of the church which Dr. Knotts started as pastor of Park Avenue Church of Somerville.

Bishop Burns was the speaker of the evening. He spoke of the advancement made in the church and also brought a message of inspiration.

Arlington Kiwanis Club Meets Every Thursday Noon at Wyman's Tavern

Fourteen hardy Kiwanians showed up at the meeting in Wyman's English Tavern yesterday noon. Some of the boys came via skis, snowshoes and dog sleds.

In the absence of a piano player, Walter Chamberlain entertained with some of his yodelling which, at times, was more or less of a gargle. He also demonstrated his versatility in describing a sure way to gather rolling oranges.

Franklin P. Hawkes, past-president, gave a stirring talk on the spirit of Kiwanis, in observance of the founding of Kiwanis International.

ial effort to be present, since a quorum is essential.

The following letter was received recently by Neil S. Peters, Emergency Relief Administrator.

Dear Sir:—At a regular meeting of the Board of Directors of the Arlington Chamber of Commerce held Friday evening January 11, 1935, the following action was taken.

Voted—that a communication be sent to Neil S. Peters, local Emergency Administrator, commending the functioning of the ERA in Arlington, expressing the belief that it has been a great benefit to the town, both as to the improvement in the morale of its beneficiaries, and in the financial returns to the business interests, and voicing the sentiment that its continuance will be most valuable and effective in maintaining these very desirable conditions.

(Signed) JOHN D. O'LEARY, President Arlington Chamber of Commerce.

DEATHS

EDWARD A. THOMPSON, JR.

Edward Arthur Thompson, Jr., Boston College freshman, died at St. Elizabeth's Hospital Wednesday with lobar pneumonia after an illness of only a few hours.

He was outstanding in dramatics and debating activities and on Monday and Tuesday evenings played a principal part in "Journey's End", the freshman class play. He received the Babst debating medal at Boston College High School and was outstanding in his work on the freshman team at B. C. He was also a member of the tennis team.

Born in Worcester, the only son of Edward Arthur and Julia M. O'Connor Thompson, he lived in Nashua, N. H., before coming to Arlington six years ago. He attended St. Agnes Church.

Services were held this morning at 11:30 at Boston College Chapel. The student body attended. Father Blatchford of the Jesuit Order, a teacher of young men, officiated. Burial was in Worcester. The bearers were classmates and were John Galway, Paul and Robert Echorn, Edward Stanton and Paul Schultz.

ROBERT WAYNE

Robert Wayne, who for the past three years has been in the real estate business in Arlington, passed away at Symmes Hospital on Monday. He had been in ill health for a month and death was due to kidney trouble.

Mr. Wayne, who made his home at 25 Laurel Street this town, was born in Savannah, Georgia, sixty-five years ago the son of Robert and Augusta Forman Wayne. He represented Luther Moore Lumber Company of Orange, Texas as a salesman in the tropics and spent most of his life in Texas, Porto Rico and Jamaica. He married Janet Lunt in Porto Rico twenty years ago. She was at that time secretary to the president of the Porto Rico Light and Power Company. He retired from the lumber business three years ago, and since that time was connected with Thomas Twitchell.

Services were held from the Hartwell Chapel, 792 Mass. Avenue on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30. Rev. Charles Tabor Hall, rector of St. John's Episcopal Church, officiated. Burial was at Mt. Pleasant Cemetery.

Besides his wife, he is survived by two children, Robert Forman Wayne and Janet Wayne and a sister, Georgianna Owen of St. Michael's, Maryland.

ARLINGTON STILL PARTIALLY PARALYZED BY SNOW BURDEN

street, and Miss Cashin, 23, of Winchester. These were all rubbed with snow, given stimulants and wrapped in blankets at police headquarters. The street department has been primarily interested not only in opening the main traffic lines but in plowing a lacework over the town so that fire apparatus could get near a possible blaze anywhere. In that the department has been mainly successful.

But streets were still so choked this morning that the no-school signal sounded in spite of fair weather (temperature -2°), as it did yesterday for both morning and afternoon sessions.

The piling snow was not the only reason why the blade plows were stopped. On nearly every street in town there was found at least one abandoned automobile which blocked the way to the plow trucks. The big tractor plows could get through anything, of course, but the town has but three of those. They are very expensive.

Neil Peters, E. R. A. Administrator, reports that he, with the cooperation of the Selectmen, had been able to put through an emergency measure to allow the employment of a gang of shovelers. In addition to the town employees, one hundred of them were on the job yesterday, shoveling sidewalks on the main streets and digging out hydrants, street intersections and automobiles which blocked traffic. Five hundred more will be out today.

Public transportation facilities were of course impaired by the sixteen or eighteen inches of snow, but the Boston Elevated Company managed to keep cars running on Massachusetts avenue, and busses were also running by the next morning, although far from schedule. Most people who were fortunate enough to get their automobiles into garages the night before, were unable to get them out in the morning, and those who were successful soon wished that they had not been.

Arlington Center is already pretty well cleared, but it has been slow work, for the piles on either side of the avenue reached ten feet of height in places. During the storm Wednesday afternoon, six-year-old William Gray of 84 Park street was struck by an automobile on Warren street and was taken home by the driver, Robert J. Shaw of 64 Foster street. His injuries were not considered serious.

Wednesday night Domenica Cicco, 20, of Lexington, was walking on Massachusetts avenue toward Lexington, near Park Reverse road, when she was hit by an automobile operated by Edmund B. Callan of Concord. She was treated about the legs and was removed to Symmes Arlington Hospital for treatment.

The Boston papers announced yesterday morning that one hundred people had been put up at Arlington Police Headquarters. The fact is that a number of people were given shelter, but that number was nearer twenty than a hundred.

Several Arlington families had unexpected guests, Wednesday night. In the face of a sixty mile, snow-laden gale, the holiday spirit reigned.

The army of unemployed should be down to practically nothing right now. There is work enough for everyone. Too much.

The Advocate's observer was out early, and he had the unique experience of seeing Rev. Laurence L. Barber of the Orthodox Congregational Church making his rounds on skis.

Tax Collector Edward A. Bailey came down to the Town Hall from his hill-top with the aid of snowshoes. Which proves the adage that time and taxes go on forever.

Several of the Advocate's force worked until twelve o'clock Wednesday night, and they were all hours getting home. But with one exception they were back on the job before nine o'clock the next morning, although some had to walk miles to do it.

Several people who were brave enough to go out Wednesday night left automobiles in public garages, to be on the safe side. But they were worse off than those who shovelled themselves out, for there was no possibility of getting out of the jammed garages, once in.

FIND VICTOR SAWYER A DYNAMIC SPEAKER

In spite of the bad storm of last Thursday afternoon, about seventy-five members of the Arlington Woman's Club made the effort to attend the regular meeting of the club, and were much more than repaid. They found Victor V. Sawyer a dynamic and enthralling speaker, and enjoyed the silky voice of Doric Alviani, baritone of first rank.

Mrs. Harold B. Wood presided, and Mrs. J. Herbert Mead, chairman of the Legislative Committee, introduced the speaker, whose subject was, "The Romance of the Constitution". As presented by Mr. Sawyer, the story of the evolution of the pattern of government of the United States was indeed a recounting of the most romantic type. Among the interested listeners was Nelson B. Crosby of Arlington, Representative from this district to the General Court.

Besides Mrs. Mead, the members of the Legislative Committee are: Miss Esther Bailey, Mrs. Nelson B. Crosby, Mrs. Walter Lannfeld, Mrs. George H. MacGillivray, Mrs. M. Norcross Stratton, Miss Ednah A. Warren.

HOUSING PROGRAM CANVASS AVERAGES 30 CALLS A DAY

The work of the field instructors in their house to house canvass, in the interest of the Better Housing Program, is meeting with very good success in Belmont. The men are averaging over 30 calls per day with from 15 to 22 interviews.

The pledges are coming in very satisfactorily and we think as the townspeople become better acquainted with the real purpose of this program that they will gladly go forward with a number of improvements which they have held in abeyance in the past.

It is interesting to note that a large number of the property owners are financing their own repairs and alterations. Those who wish to take advantage of Government aid, through some reputable bank, will find that the rate charged is much lower than it would be to obtain the loans with some private corporation. It should be borne in mind that such loans are not mortgages, but are personal character notes, unsecured.

The first meeting of the executive and advisory committees was held at Town Hall last Friday evening and was very well attended. Following the report of the chairman, the various features of the campaign were discussed and it was brought out that the men carrying on the field work were doing it in such a splendid and dignified manner that their activities were receiving very favorable approval. The committees were informed that it is planned to so classify the pledges that contractors and responsible jobbing men can, by calling at the office, obtain the names of those who desire estimates for the work they wish to carry out. We will send but three contractors to one pledge signer and these contractors are to report to us before they will be allowed to obtain further names. We intend that every contractor and responsible jobbing man in Belmont shall have equal opportunity on this work.
